Announcements Of Committee Members Are Made By Chairman McGehee

The vanguard of the army of delegates to the annual conference of North Alabama Methodist is expected to begin arriving Monday afternoon, so as to have all things ready for the formal opening of the conference Wednesday morning at the First Methodist Church of Decatur.

Evidence of the preparedness of local Methodists to care for the big gathering is seen in the fact already a large majority of the delegates have already been assigned homes.

One of the sure indications that success will crown the efforts of the promoters of the conference is that the whole community is taking a deep interest in the plans.

The church people of both cities are especially active and every Methodist church in both Albany and Decaturville, has voluntarily agreed to help in entertainment for the conference during its seven days stay.
The published lists show that the hotels and homes including the local allroad Y. M. C. A. are to be open to the conference guests.
D. D. McGehee, General Chairman, has given out the following lists of committee chairmen: Reception: Martin West, chairman of the board of edwards. Boy Scouts: Paul Morrison. Automobiles: Judge W. T. Lowe and D. D. Burleson. Ushers, Leon C.

Crisler and Mrs. Marguerite Carleton, dead woman had demanded it, and at United States Senator T. G.

Walsh had been retained as attorney for Mrs. J. H. Kyle, mother of Mrs.
Carleton.

of the county was authorized to take insurance for the company in his beat, and to adjust and examine insurance held in the company in his respective beats.

Local Woman's Title to Large Lawrence Estate Is Approved

ALBANY CIVIC BODY
OPPOSES PLAN FOR
UTILITIES' CONTROL
BY MUNICIPALITIES

Directors Adopt Resolutions At Called Meeting Condemning the Movement

BELIEVES PROTECTION
FOR PUBLIC GREATER

Reasons Set Forth Why Present Method Is More Satis-sfactory

The movement for the return of control of state utilities to the governments of municipalities in which the utilities are located today met opposition when the Albany Chamber of Commerce made public resolutions adopted by the directors yesterday, in opposition to the plan.

The resolutions follow:

Whereas, there has been some agitation of the question of taking the control and regulation of public utilities from the Alabama Public Service Commission and placing them under the control of local authorities,

Whereas, the principal reason why the control of the utilities in all, or nearly all, of the states, was moved from the local authorities to state commissions was to take the utilities out of local politics, and

Whereas, under state control all utilities are required by law to report to the Commission their operations on forms made up from the Interstate Commerce Commission's classification of accounts, thereby making the reports of all utilities uniform and capable of comparing one with the other, all of which is for the benefit of the investors in the securities of the utilities, and for the protection of the public, and

Whereas, the State Commission has in its employ engineers and accountants familiar with the operations and accounting of the utilities, who supervise and audit the construction and maintenance accounts of all of the utilities of the state, and are thereby more familiar with the subjects of regulation of utilities, than would be a local engineer or accountant who might be called upon to make a report on the local utility, possibly with no former experience, and

Whereas, the local authorities would have no well defined authority given them for the regulation of utilities; such as the Alabama Public Service Commission has, under the Public Utilities Act, therefore,

Be it Resolved, that the Albany Chamber of Commerce condemns the movement to place the public utilities of the state under local control and condemns the movement to take the regulation and control of the utilities of the state away from the Alabama
Public Service Commission, legislation of that kind would in our opinion be a step backwards, and not progressive.

Resolutions passed at a called meeting of the directors of the Albany Chamber of Commerce held on October 27, 1922.

(Signed) C. D. PATTERSON, Pres.
Marjorie Miller, Secretary.

Prosecutor Confident Murder Now Is Solved

(Associated Press.)
NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 28.—

Confident that he has solved the Hall and Mills murder, which he says was complex but not a mystery, Prosecutor Mott went ahead today with the work of assembling corroborative evidence. He indicated to newspaper men that no arrests will be made until he has presented the case to the Somerset County grand jury.

The pig farm of Mrs. James Gibson again was under guard today to prevent newspaper men from further talking with her. She is said to have told Mr. Mott during the lengthy interviews that she lost one of her moccasins as she rode hurriedly away after witnessing the shooting of the pair, and returned four hours later to search for it.

Her statement that Mrs. Mills ran away after Dr. Hall had been shot and hid in the bushes between the apple tree and the old Phillips house, where the man and woman murderers found her, with the aid of flashlights and dragged her 30 or 40 yards over the rough ground, is borne out by the autopsy.

The slain choir singer's body gave evidence of rough treatment. Mrs.
Mills fought desperately, Mrs. Gibson is said to have told the authorities, but the murderers overpowered her and dragged her back to the spot under the tree where she was shot three times.

MONTANA RECTOR AND WOMAN WERE INSANITY VICTIMS

(Associated Press.)
HAVRE, Mont., Oct. 28.—The Rev.
Leonard Jacob Crisler, rector of St.
Mark's church of the incarnation here, and widely known as the bishop of all outdoors, and Mrs. Margaret Carleton, wife of a former Montana district judge, who were killed yesterday in the clergyman's home within a few feet of the room where Mrs.
Crisler was, was a victim of temporary insanity on the part of Mrs.
Carleton in the opinion of local officials.

So sure are the officials that the deaths represent a murder and suicide that Coroner John Holland in the sheriff's office last night announced no inquest would be held unless relatives of the dead man and woman insist on one.

MOTION DENIED.

er, to show cause why the decision handed down by Supreme Court Justice Morschauser at White Plains, N. Y., confirming the report of Referee Gleason in favor of Mrs.
Stillman, and her son, Guy, should not be reviewed.

Figures in Hall-Mills Murder Mystery

Wilbur A. Mott, former prosecutor of Essex County, N. J., has been named by Attorney-General McCran to take charge of the investigation into the mysterious murders of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, his "Wonder Heart" choir leader, at New Brunswick, N. J. Mrs.
Elsie Barnhart, sister of Mrs. Mills, had confessed to her infatuation for the rector and of their intention to elope to Japan. Barbara Tough, upstairs girl in the Hall mansion, denies the rector's millionaire wife told her, hours before the bodies were found, that Dr. Hall was dead.

DID YOU KNOW

William McKinley, 1897-1901. The third martyred president was born in Ohio, in 1843, and had served but six months of his second term when he was cut down by an assassin's bullet, Sept. 14, 1901, while attending an exposition at Buffalo, New York.
He had served with distinction in the Civil War, and was governor of Ohio when elected to the presidency.
No other president since the time of Lincoln was held in such effectionate esteem by his loyal constituents and his untimely death cast a gloom over the entire nation.
He was one of the gentlest characters that ever occupied the White House, and history will give him a place as one of the nation's truly great men. His tender ministrations and devotion to Mrs. McKinley, who was an invalid for a long time, will be recalled by every one and the nation joined with him in the expectant hope for her recovery.

Next, Theodore Roosevelt.

were claimed. A verdict for $3,000 was returned in the lower court.

the defendant.

MASONIC VISITOR ENTERTAINED BY LOCAL CHAPTER

The lodge room of the Masonic order was the scene of a memorable gathering last night when about 250 members and visitors of Decatur Chapter 38 R. A. M. met to honor M. E. Grand High Priest R. T. Ward of Dadeville, and to hear his message.

By special dispensation the meeting began at 6:30 p. m. and following which, the assemblage adjourned to the rooms of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, where an excellent dinner was enjoyed.

The meeting at the lodge room was opened with prayer by Dr. L. F. Goodwin, following which, Dr. J. L. Gunter, introduced the distinguished visitor.
Dr. Ward made a broad minded, patriotic and highly inspirational address. He stressed the necessity of brotherly love one for another as one of the essential doctrines of the Masonic fraternity. He gave a historical sketch of Masonry as it was revealed in the great deeds and great aspirations of its leaders from the beginning.

"It is Masonry to love one another in the heart" declared the speaker.
Dr. Ward explained that the Washington Memorial foundations had been laid at Alexandria, Va., at a cost of $200,000, when complete to cost $1-800,000 and this grand work is going steadily on. He said that about 300 children, some of them with their mothers, were now in the Masonic Home at Montgomery where they were being fed, clothed and educated. The speaker said that the Masonic home was a proud monument to Alabama Masonry. In this connection Dr.
Ward referred gracefully to the educational tasks undertaken by the laborers.

LONG LITIGATION IN WILL CASE BRINGS MRS. THOS. BOWLES A VICTORY IN COURT

Strong Array of Legal Talent Battled for Years In Proceedings

BRICKELL'S DECISION
APPROVED AT CAPITAL

Supreme Court Hands Down Long Awaited Opinion In Noted Case

Congratulations are being showered upon Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A.
Bowles, because of the import of the following special dispatch received in this office this morning:

"Montgomery, Oct. 28.—Special.—
The supreme court today handed down a decision affirming the judgment of the Lawrence County circuit court in the case of James J. Harris vs. Mrs. Argie C. Bowles, et al."

Those familiar with the facts of the suit thus decided in favor of Mrs. T. A. Bowles, stated that her titles to two thousand acres of valuable farm lands a few miles out of Courtland toward the Tennessee river, in Lawrence county, have been approved by the highest court of the state.

The suit in question, according to Judge John C. Eyster, one of the attorneys of Mr. and Mrs. Bowles, was filed May 15, 1920, in the district court of Chancery.

Naturally because so much property was involved, a strong array of legal talent was employed by both sides. In addition to Eyster and Eyster, the defendants employed
Callahan and Harris, and Attorney
C. M. Sherrod of Courtland.

According to attorneys, seldom if ever has an Alabama court been called upon to examine as many depositions. There were five full volumes of evidence submitted and each volume was said to be almost two inches thick.

Evidence was gathered from as far west as Louisville and as far east as the Carolinas. It was first submitted to Judge R. C. Brickell sitting at Chambers, who after several weeks consideration handed down his decision in favor of the defendant.

Immediately the suit was appealed to the supreme court, some time in 1920, with the result that October 28, 1922, a final decision was rendered.

SITUATION BETTER AGENCY REPORTED AFTER MEETING OF CABINET ALL NIGHT

Concerted Movement of Fascisti Begun Against Several Important Cities

MINISTRY WORKING TO RE-ESTABLISH ORDER

First Decision Was To Declare
State of Siege Existed

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Martial law was proclaimed in Italy today to take effect at noon, but the proclamation later was rescinded, it is stated, in dispatches from the Stefani agency in Rome, the semi-official Italian news organization.

It is explained the withdrawal of the proclamation is the result of an improvement in the situation.

Special dispatches told of the beginning of a concerted movement by the fascisti against several towns, Florence, Pisa, Cremona and other chief centers were declared to have been taken over by the fascisti forces who deposed the state authorities and assumed command.

Apparently, according to those advices, there was no resistance. Communication in all parts of the country is badly disorganized.

CABINET IN SESSION

(Associated Press.)

ROME, Oct. 28.—The cabinet council has been in session since midnight in order to receive reports from the provinces where the fascisti movement has taken a subversive direction and to adopt necessary measures to meet the situation.

The cabinet decided first to issue a proclamation declaring a state of siege in all the provinces, beginning at noon today, but later this decision was modified and a proclamation was issued urging the public to maintain order in the face of insurrectionary attempts.

Reports received by the cabinet council from a number of points in central Italy show that the fascisti are extending their movement with a view to exerting pressure for the formation of a fascisti cabinet.

The Facta ministry, despite its resignation, is acting with energy to re-establish order.

Enforcement Of Rules Explained

A. G. Patterson, member of the state highway commission, who is spending the day in the Twin Cities, said today when approached as to the manner of carrying out the rules recently promulgated by the state highway department, relative to preserving the roads of the several counties, that the sheriff, his deputies and all citizens who have knowledge of violation of the rules recently promulgated, will make these names known to the highway commission, and they in turn will be summoned before the grand juries of the respective counties, and the matter approached from that angle.

"It is largely a matter of cooperation on the part of the entire citizenship of the county, who are copartners with the state in the building of roads, and the manner of seeing that they were preserved, said
the commissioner."

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FORD'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS.

CONSIDER THE PEANUT

The lowly peanut has come into its own in this state, and a large crop of this product which is susceptible of being transformed into a variety of food products, is gradually moving toward the markets. They are quoted on the state markets for $80 a ton, with a recent advance, bringing them up to $105 per ton, with the shelled ones bringing 7 cents per pound, equivalent to $140 per ton. There are eight principal crushing points in the state, and from these according to statistics there has been shipped from these points 13,000,000 pounds of peanut oil. The peanut next to cotton seed is available of many by-products, and represent in a year many thousands of dollars to the raisers. A few years ago there was a great campaign for raising pork on peanuts. This was carried out to a considerable degree, but it found that the meat was too oily, and would not command the best price at the packing plants, it being very easy to distinguish the peanut fed meat from the corn fed pork. This idea and practice has to a great extent been abandoned during the last few years. But the peanut has not fallen into any disrepute on that account, for since that time many other avenues of usefulness as food products has been found for it, and there is a steady demand for the product. And now Alabama is the largest producer of peanuts of any state in the union.

ABOUT COTTON

If it is a fact as claimed, that the producers now have in their possession over two million bales of the present crop of cotton, they are in a positive position to dictate the price in a more positive way than ever before. Heretofore the growers of this important staple have had no leverage with which they might in a business way, have some say in the price of their main staple. Now things have changed, and it is conceded by those who have manipulated the market at will, that the planter and the grower is having his way.

There is positive proof that the Farm Pool Association members from the fact that they have signed up many thousands bales in each cotton producing state, and this large amount stored and insured in many of the large warehouses of the country, are now in position to act as a governor of the market, and this is reflected considerably in the firm tone of the market even under the influence of the small fluctuations which come from time to time. It invariably goes back to the point from which it declined, and in many instances, to a higher figure. It has been a long and tedious road, but the prospects were never more favorable for some of these things to obtain in the cotton market. If even some of them become a reality, the cotton grower is to be benefited in large terms.

THE SCHOOL INTEREST

The great drives which are being made over the entire South for greater education facilities, in which can be trained the minds and hearts of the young of today, can have but one meaning, and that is, that every facility for this training shall be provided the citizenship of the future, in this most important phase during the formative period of their life.

The defeated candidate in the recent election for U. S. Senator from Georgia, governor Hardwick, is saying some hard things about the senator from his state, Senator Harris, and is being worked up to a high frenzy. Defeat is hard indeed to bear when the public crib is so promising. But under our system of government,

"SMALL FARM" IDEA IS GROWING: LARGE FARM TRACTS MUST PASS.

Large plantations and ranches must give way ultimately to the small farm. This is one of the fruits of increasing population, the demand for more intensive farming, and the necessity for men who wish to farm, but who cannot afford large tracts, to get home places.

In the Southwest, where some years ago whole counties were embraced in one or two ranches, the land now is being divided up into smaller tracts and the farm is taking the place of the large, to the very great advantage of the section. In the South, where in other days large plantations were the order, small tracts are taking their place and the large plantation is becoming the exception.

The "one man" farm idea is the outgrowth of this dividing of large tracts into small farms. In contested portions of the country there is not room even for the farm of two hundred or three hundred acres. Small farms that can be looked after and cultivated successfully with intensive methods by one man are being sought. In time the big farm will be only a memory in all of the more thickly settled states, and as the congestion of population spreads to other states, the cutting up of land tracts will be extended. It is the natural course for agriculture to take. It is the forward step, for it means more farmers actively engaged in the work and owning their own farms, and it means a greater diversity of farm products, for a one-man farm cannot be a one-crop farm; it would not pay.

"The one man farm idea is believed to embody a sound principle of a community's agricultural prosperity," observes the Selma Times-Journal. Continuing, the Selma paper says "it is an idea that ought to have more earnest consideration from the civic and agricultural leaders of the south, where immense holdings by a few landlords are working irreparable injury to the welfare of the community."

"Large estates have long been a marked characteristic of the South's agricultural life, and they have proved an undoubted injury and obstruction to the country's success and harmonious development. Large and sparsely cultivated holdings are worth to the community only a fraction of what they would be worth if they were cut up into small farms, each owned by a small farmer. Forty acres is recognized as ample acreage to make a man well to do and under proper conditions will support him and his family comfortably. The conditions for intensive farming in most Southern communities are admirable. The evil of large land holdings in single estates or by single land-rich individuals has been seriously considered by our chambers of commerce and efforts have been made to grapple with the problem, but very little practical headway has yet been attained. It constitutes one of the most important answers to the ever present query, 'What's the matter with the country?' A multiplication of small farms, owned and tilled by active, industrious white farmers, would soon banish much of the inertia that blights our agricultural life and bring about a new era of wholesome, durable progress and prosperity.—Anniston Star.

The United States by virtue of its isolation is in a much preferable position than many of the nations of earth, who are in a group in a disaffected country, each struggling to hold on to what they have and contending for more. In the capacity of an onlooker, she can be able to gather such fragments of this disaffection and ward off many of the undesirable things which now affect other countries of the Old World. From all appearances it will be a long time before tranquility and a policy of peaceful pursuit takes possession of the people where the war spirit is uppermost, and we can consistently congratulate ourselves as a people on our consistent attitude of peace.

It is refreshing to recall some of the great characters which walked the walks of men, and served their generation well, as with an inflexible will, forged after mature deliberation, that the things for which they contended were of right conception, and with an unyielding attitude held to them with a tenacity which attracted the attention and admiration of those who differed from them. Such men never sell for their worth, but generally after they have departed, it is recognized that their cause, and the manner of espousing it was correct.

All the roads lead home if the start is taken in the right direction.

ILLINOIS DRYS WILL NOT VOTE ON BREWERS' PROPOSAL.

The Anti-Saloon League of Illinois shows good generalship in the decision to ignore the beer and wine referendum of the booze interests. Instead of conducting a campaign against the two proposals of the brewers and their friends, the League has announced a vigorous campaign to persuade the voters to ignore the proposition as it will appear on the ballot November 7.

The League's reasons for taking this position are briefly these:

Unlike the ordinary referendum a decision at the polls will not be binding for the beer and wine proposal is submitted under the "public policy act." A referendum under this act is merely an advisory vote and not a mandate. The League objects to taking a straw vote on the question of sustaining the Constitution of the United States at the expense of the tax-payers.

Two proposals are submitted—one to amend the Volstead law, the other to amend the state law which prohibits the manufacture and sale of beer and wine. Any school boy or girl who has attained the fourth grade knows that Illinois electors can not by a referendum vote amend a federal law. As to the second proposition, it is an indisputable fact that state law does not supersede federal law. The Anti-Saloon League takes the position that to vote for or against these propositions would be to admit that the questions submitted are legal and debatable. It is therefore urged that the referendum be ignored.

Thus will the wets under the leadership of the outlawed brewery interests have a referendum all by themselves. But in the language of the streets, they are merely kidding themselves. The only danger to the dry cause arising from this fiasco lies in the possibility of misinterpretation by people not familiar with the situation. This will be especially true with reference to England and other European countries when the news of "an overwhelming wet victory in Illinois" is announced after this election is held.

However, the Anti-Saloon League is conducting a vigorous campaign against the beer and wine proposal in a way that counts most. Instead of wasting time on a silly and illegal referendum the League is directing its energies to mobilizing the dry vote in behalf of Congressmen pledged against modification of the Volstead law.—American Issue.

Those with an earnest desire and effort stand before great classes of young men and women of the different schools of the country, and by precept and example help to fashion these lives for future usefulness, are contributing a great service, the sum total of which cannot be computed in dollars and cents. No one makes a greater contribution to society than these. Others who through donations of suitable grounds, and still others who make contributions that schools can be built and others enlarged, are also making a contribution to the present and future which is beyond human computation.

Every city, town and hamlet that makes the earnest effort to provide certain educational facilities, that the young of each respective place can be taught the things which mean so much in after life, and thus provide for in such a way that they in turn can teach it to others, are also making a great contribution to their respective places, and those who are most in earnest, make the greatest contribution. Society should never be leveled down, but leveled up. The school offers the greatest opportunity for doing this, of any known institution.

With many projects of road construction under way in the county and state, and with rules issued by the state highway commission for the preservation of them, it is the duty of all to faithfully observe them, that these highways may last as long as possible and be at all times in a good state of repair. To disregard them is but to begin an era of destruction of the things which are very vital to the people of each county in the state, and are something which they have their money invested in, and are now the property of every citizenship of the county and state. It is every man's business to see that they are enforced, and to use every effort to see that it is due.

As a stock raising county Morgan county offers opportunity equal with the best to be found. In many sections of this county are fine and large pasture lands, through which there flows the year round fine spring water in ample quantities for large numbers of cattle and other stock. The county is remarkably free from stock diseases, and some very fine mules, cattle and hogs are annually raised here, though the industry is not if some time and intelligent attention were paid to it. Some of the largest and best formed mule stock ever seen in the county were native products. There is no doubt but that if some attention were paid to this profitable industry, it would not be necessary to raise so much cotton to make all ends meet.

Pork and pork products companies continue to receive orders for many thousands of dollars each year for the very thing which we can and do raise on a small scale, and it has been demonstrated to a certainty that pork raising in Morgan county is no longer an experiment. Just why we annually send out of this country thousands of dollars which should be kept at home, is a mystery, and will remain so until each individual farmer raises at home the necessities of life. It would add to the revenue of the farm in no small way if a reversal of this habit was made, and would make the net returns from the farm many thousands of dollars more than it is at present.

Modern science and invention has arrived at many conclusions which have proved to be absolutely true, and the public at large is greatly indebted to those who by this patient research has made these things possible. When the low wheel bicycle was invented and perfected to a degree which made it a safe and useful means of propelling one's self from one point to another, it was then and is still freely used. Then in rapid succession came the automobile and flying machines, which have proved very practical and of great usefulness. Will there be anything invented which will make the flying machine obsolete? It doesn't seem so now, but inventive science is still at work, and science it that article of effort which does things.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS FOR SABBATH AND OTHER DAYS

By J. E. Blair

In self love is the making of the finest kind of character. But in actual life, self-love, or selfishness unmakes all character, either wholly or in part. There is nothing wrong in self-love. Our Savior did not say love self less, but others more. He said love others as much as self, no more, no less. Wrong will flood our souls until we properly relate and properly distribute our love. (Freelove) is NEVER properly related. Self-love as the natural man or woman understands it is destructive; but according to God's plans it is constructive. Any love that abides alone—that remains in the individual, will canker—it will die, and finally rot out the soul of its owner!

The one thing to do with self-love is to DIS-TRIBUTE it. We speak of "passing prosperity around," and we should pass love around! To teach by example—take any product of the soil—and let it abide alone, and it will die and decay. But let said product, say a potato, be properly related and it will sprout life! You may recall that St. Paul said in effect that people were foolish who did not realize that a seed should not abide alone, but should be cast into the ground so it would sprout.

A well known spiritual expression is: "Dead to self" and it expresses a great and important change—but a more important and a greater change is expressed in the words "alive toward God and all His creatures." A person dead to self may make moral statuary—or even a hermit kind of saint; but being alive unto God—and to the needs of His creatures alone, spells true saintliness! In a word if you "pass your love around" you are fulfilling every requirement of God and man!

Finally, don't get an idea you can meet such a requirement, just by willing to do so. Up to the present time in human history, such a consummation has not been reached without divine assistance, despite what some "Isimist," may try to tell you! Conversion of a soul is an act of God. He alone can "turn the trick"—(said in all reverence) that will cause the soil to right-about-face. But you can be on the heavenward road, and still be cumbered with this same "self-love." Until a greater consideration than your soul salvation moves you, self-love has not been properly related. Until a greater miracle than conversion is worked upon "self-love"—it will not share its self—it will not be passed around sufficiently—it will not leave the whole lump of world society! Most Christians mean their souls are saved when they sing "Hallelujah tis Done"—but serious minded Christians know that until Christ's Kingdom is set up on the earth, there is no rest for the righteous; and such look with pardonable near-con-

A Stickler

"Hey there!" yelled Constable Sam T. Slackpatter, the combined lynx-eyed sleuth dog pelter and traffic cop of Patunia. "You didn't park your car within six inches of the curb, as the law provides."

"How can I?" returned the offending motorists. "There is no curb there, it hasn't been put in yet."

"Well, here's the place where it ought to be and there's your car. Now, you just park the said latter within six inches of where the aforesaid former would be if there were any or I'll pull you and turn quick, too!"

This life we live is irksome,
No matter where we be;
The road is lined with boulders
And breakers crown the sea.

Says Uncle John in the Cherokee Messenger and then continues:

But we mustn't get discouraged
And declare that life's a cheat.
For the prospects ain't so cheering
When a fellow gets cold feet.

I like to greet the feller that Can laugh at clouds and cares—
That squares himself in trouble,
With his fists as well as prayers.

One that earns a benediction,
That is mighty soft and sweet;
"He blessed the world he lived in
And—he never got cold feet."

What you don't know costs you
A lot of money.

Pearls come from Oysters, and diamonds usually come from some poor fish.

Curiosity

Doctor—Now you see what comes of eating green apples when your mother told you not to.

Boy—I didn't eat 'em cos I liked 'em. I eat 'em to find out who told me not to.

Home is a place where the mode sons and daughters sleep when everything is closed.

Most people who have nothing to do make the mistake of doing it.

Snap To!

"Liza, what fo' you buy dat 'ole box of shoe black?"
Go on, nigger, dat ain't shoe black! dat's ma massage cream.

Another argument for the perpetuation of the motorist at four miles per hour has no time to lamp beauties of nature. To him a holly thorn bush and billboard are blended into one mad riot of color.

Flapper Styles

"The latest thing is the dish sweater."
"Oughtto go nicely with the towel skirt."

The highest price we can pay for anything is to steal it, the next to it, the cheapest and best is to earn it.

How did you like the girl I dug for you?

As far as I'm concerned you bury her again.

DELIGHTFUL PARTY.

A very delightful occasion on Friday evening was a Halloween party given by Miss Flossie Griffin at her home on Canal Street to the young members of the Christian Endeavor of the Decatur First Presbyterian Church.

The little guests, masked, assembled and were met at the door by a ghost and after shaking the clammy hand of this ghost they proceeded to enjoy a unique entertainment.

This included a hunt for hidden articles, Gene Morrow sealed his fate by finding the tin. The piper piped and the crowd followed him into the dining room where Ben Holmes proved the lucky contestant for pinning the cats eye in its correct position. Now the most exciting moment, the unmasking, and the judges awarded the prize to Jessie Griffin who represented little Bo-Peep.

While bobbing for apples a witch appeared and told their fortunes in a weird little tent which sent shivers through all after which refreshments were served 30 guests.

Mrs. Henry Hartung and daughter left Friday for Tusculum to spend the week-end with relatives and friends. Mr. Hartung will leave today and join them there and remain over Sunday, returning Sunday night.

Miss Ethel Yates, of Camden, S. C. is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dave Perkins.

The Social Service Classes of the First M. E. Church will have a social hour with Mrs. Binford Turner on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Albany High School News

The two literary societies of the Albany High school have organized with Hilda Harris president of number one and Robert Nebright president of number two. The societies hope to have many interesting debates between them and a good program each week. They will begin to have regular meetings this week.

The societies are going by the numbers "One" and "Two" until suitable names can be adopted.

Last Friday the most thrilling and hard fought game of the season was played between Rogersville and Albany on the Y. M. C. A. field. It is a subject much discussed this week whether or not the victory was due to a piece of blue silk which a member of the Albany team was given to wear in the heel of his left sock. It seems that the silk brought us good luck for Albany High beat Lauderdale County High 7 to 0. The team has a game scheduled with Gurley in Gurley Saturday.

The girls are turning out well this year for basketball. About forty came out for the first practice last week. The practices held since have revealed some good material. So after a month or more of hard practice Albany High expects to have a good basketball team. The team has received challenges from several of the surrounding high schools already.

The senior class of '23, which is expected to be the largest class to graduate from Albany so far has organized itself and elected the following officers:

Otha Wilson, president.
Phyllis Perkins, vice president.
Earline Johnson, secretary.

Sue Rives Brown, treasurer.
The following staff for the Annual has also been elected:

Martin Briscoe, editor-in-chief.
Mary Lou DeFord, Evelyn McMillan, assistant editor, literary editor.

Robert Warren, business manager.
Gale Dalrymple, athletic editor.
Dorothy Friedkin, art editor.
Laura Martin, poet.

Mildred Moebes, historian.
It is the aim of each senior class to make an improvement over the annual published this year before. And the class of '23 will try to make their annual the best published so far.

Last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the "Hi-Y" Club held its annual conference in Montgomery. All the members of the A. H. S. "Hi-Y" Club attended it this year. Monday and Tuesday morning each boy from here gave a short talk in the chapel period telling the school about the fine speeches they heard the interesting things they saw and did, the people they met, including the governor, and the good things they had to eat! The high school is always eager to hear about those conventions and the talks were greatly enjoyed by all.

Another splendid talk was given by class.

Mrs. Orr, from Birmingham, who was visiting Albany during the W. C. T. U. Convention. Mrs. Orr has talked in many of the Birmingham schools and she gave us a talk that was not only enjoyable but instructive and helpful if her instructions are practiced. It was very kind of Mrs. Orr to come and her visit was appreciated very much.

MYSTERY STORY IS AT THE PRINCESS SATURDAY

One of the novel and original features of "A Midnight Bell," a First National attraction in which Charles Ray stars, is an underground tunnel dug by five crooks in their attempt to get into the First National Bank of Belpport. "A Midnight Bell," which is based on the famous play by Charles Hoyt, will be shown at the Princess Theater today.

The tunnel is a realistic set. It is a tortuous passage with jagged rocks and protruding ledges of dirt, and the electricians at the studio were compelled to experiment for days before they had perfected the proper lighting effects and make it look like an underground scene.

Incidentally, the five actors—and the star—who had to crawl on their hands and knees along the snaky and winding tunnel, did not relish the stunt. There was little space between the roof and the floor of the passage, and Donald MacDonald, the "villain," and S. J. Bingham, a member of his band of desperadoes, not being as slim as Ray or as the other members of the cast, had difficulty in negotiating the journey. Both got stuck necessitating S. O. S. calls for picks and spades.—adv.

POLLY AND HER PALS

Petersburg Morgan Defeats Morgan Of Hartselle By Score of 46 to 0

Hoplessly beaten, even before the starting whistle blew, in every football attribute but fighting courage, the Petersburg flame time after time roared over Hartselle yesterday, but each time Hartselle, with an exhibition of dogged courage, arose from the ashes of seared hopes to fight anew. Morgan 46, Morgan 0, with the invaders from Tennessee on the long end of the top heavy count.

Fumbles in the opening minutes gave L. Hartselle an opportunity to punt out of danger twice, but the Gold and Black managed at the expense of time to be denied. Vann Arnett, Head Line Gould, aided by sledge hammer thrusts by the line, ripped the Hartselle defense to pieces. In only one department of attack did Morgan County prove more adept—in the aerial game.

Substantial gains were made via the overhead route, but whatever chance Hartselle had to score was cut short on two occasions by intercepted passes. The Morgan line held the Red and White in check at all times, in the latter stages of the contest, Hartselle resorting to passing almost entirely.

The superior weight of the invaders told in frequent injuries to the Hartselle machine. Time out was frequent and the final period of the game was played in semi-darkness. Battered almost to the breaking point, the Hartselle eleven drew from a battery of super-courage for vitality to continue the fight.

The game was witnessed by one of the largest crowds in Morgan County's football history.

The line ups:

PETERSBURG	HARTSELLE
Booth	Johnson
McKibbin	Thompson
Largen	Butler
Dixon	Stephenson
Holmes	Reed
Tate	Chenault
Rice	McRea
Gould	Ellison
Arnett	Hartselle
Vann	C. Thompson
Head	Tomlinson

Substitutions: Hartselle: Burleson for Thompson, Thompson for Johnson. Petersburg: Muse for Head. Stringer for Price.

First Quarter.
L. Hartselle kicked off for Morgan County. On the first play Vann went 10 yards but Hartselle was penalized 5 for offside. Head fumbled and Ellison recovered in the middle of the field. Two bucks failing, L. Hartselle punted to Gould. Arnett broke away for a 25-yard dash, but Vann fumbled for a two yard loss. Gould and Arnett made 6 yards in two tries, but a pass was blocked and Hartselle took the ball. Hartselle was unable to gain and L. Hartselle punted 25 yards to Gould. Vann went off tackle for 20 yards. Arnett fumbled and Butler recovered.

Thompson and Hartselle gained but three yards in three bucks and L. Hartselle again punted to Gould. Two bucks gave Morgan eight yards and Head made it first down. Two more bucks and Arnett made it first down. The invaders were using straight football almost exclusively. Time out for Arnett. Head hit the line for 6 yards and Arnett made it first down. The ball was on Hartselle's 15 yard line. Petersburg bucked the ball to Hartselle's 5-yard line as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter
Head carried it over on the second try. Gould kicked goal. Hartselle 0, Petersburg 7.
McKibbin kicked to Red Thompson who returned 5. L. Hartselle punted to Gould. Arnett made first down in two tries. McRea stopped a fake buck, for a 2-yard loss. Well Supplied.
A prominent politician, although a Scotsman, relates a story against himself and his fellow countrymen. While on a visit to the Canary Islands once he was feeling very lonely and inquired of an official, "Are there many Scotsmen in these parts?" "Not many," was the reply. "Just a few, but quite enough."

The old road between the city and Albany was, for the greater part of the way, but a rough path, and a virgin forest. Thousands of years ago a man had cleared a few acres, the house of a major house were open to the sky, the road was covered by the trees of Hudson and the hillsides were brief white, or by a few examples of mountains, so that the road was even the wind and the sun were in the air.

Growth by Grace.
There is no such way to attain to greater measures of grace, as for a man to live up to that little grace he has.—Thomas Brooks.

The Way You May Improve Your Alertness and Beauty

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

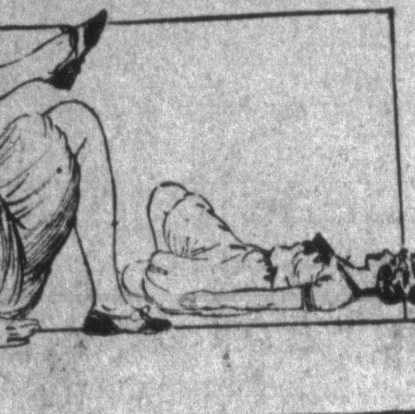

SIMPLE and suitable exercises to keep well and in trim are most essential to the woman who would much of her time indoors. Unfortunately, too many women who could spend several hours a day out-of-doors prefer to stay inside. If you happen to be in this latter class, reflect seriously now and change your habits. A slim, youthful figure can never be gained nor improved by this preference for staying inside. And, aside from physical beauty, you will find that an alert, active mind, which is equally as important as an attractive appearance, is never improved by sluggish indoor habits. If you want to look youthful and attractive, and to attract interesting friends and companions through your keen, wide-awake mind, you should be always alert for exercise in any form in which it is available to you.

Live and walk out of doors as much as possible. If you can't be out of doors as much as you need to be, you should have some simple indoor exercises which you can perform with the expenditure of but little time and thought.

Now, do not make the mistake of looking upon any form of regulation exercise as a bugbear or a necessary evil to be endured rather than enjoyed. Of course, lying upon the floor and going through prescribed movements may not give you the keen enjoyment which a game of basket ball which she plays with the same and in view-exercise. Nevertheless, you can make your indoor exercise an occupation which will bring you comfort and real enjoyment, instead of inflicting you with a sense of painful duty.

The following exercise can be taken and rest for a minute. Return to position, with knees bent and soles flat on the floor.

Drop your left knee down to the side as far as it will go. Get it as nearly flat on the floor as you can while letting your foot keep its flat position, but turning it slightly on its side.

Repeat this five or six times with your left leg, then five or six times with your right leg.

Rest a minute, then repeat several times alternating.

If you find that six repetitions of each exercise are too many for you at first, regulate according to your strength. It is just as important to refrain from overdoing as it is to see that you take enough exercise.

If you start by doing the exercise less than six times, the encouraging part will be that gradually you will find your capacity increasing. You will find this increasing ease of accomplishment means that your muscles, which were rusty from lack of use, are getting into good shape.
